

Dear Valued Patient of Hilde Family Dentistry,

We understand & deeply respect that you may be concerned about coronavirus infection in public places, even at our state-of-the-art office where we follow strict sterilization & disinfection protocol.

At Hilde Family Dentistry, we want to assure you that our office has even further heightened our already rigid sterilization safeguard standards to substantially reduce the possibility of disease transmission to our team or to you, our valued patient.

- We routinely clean frequently-touched surfaces in our workplace, such as workstations, countertops, customer waiting areas & our dental operatories after each patient.
- We have placed posters in workplace areas encouraging proper cough & sneeze etiquette & hand hygiene.
- We are encouraging sick employees to stay home.

We continue to monitor the story as it evolves & are following the recommendations set forth by the U.S. Center for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC), World Health Organization (WHO) & Skagit County Public Health Department. As we institute proactive measures, we are also following the guidance of our local government officials & public health entities to help ensure the safety of our team & patients.

These are just some of the ways that we can show our care for you & everyone in our community. We very much look forward to seeing you, your family & your friends very soon.

Sincerely,

Hilde Family Dentistry Team
